

Intelligent Lockers for Smart Employee Storage Solution

Intelligent lockers redefine smart storage solutions. Here's why an insurance company switched to intelligent lockers for its offices.

Challenge

The employees of an insurance company headquartered in Chicago are prohibited from bringing their personal belongings, including items such as coats, briefcases, handbags, and so on, into their new workplace. As a result, they required a secure storage space to keep their belongings during working hours, but traditional keyed or combination lockers were deemed unsuitable.

Europe offers Intelligent Lockers

XBP Europe's Intelligent Lockers presented a user-friendly, intuitive, and safe storage solution. The lockers were available in different sizes to cater to individual requirements of the employees. Along with creating a personal PIN for locker access, the lockers featured sensors to detect employee badges. This enabled the employees to effortlessly access their designated locker by waving their badge in front of the sensor, eliminating the need for long queues during peak times when many employees needed to access their lockers at the start or end of the workday.
